| Site Background/History | From 1975 to 1985, Safety Kleen operated a commercial hazardous waste storage facility at this site, located at 1227 Hanley Industrial Court in Brentwood (St. Louis). Safety Kleen provided its customers with parts cleaners and equipment, paint refinishing equipment, parts cleaning and degreasing solvents. From August 1980 to February 1985, this facility was also a temporary accumulation point for waste material produced by Safety-Kleen customers. Safety-Kleen operated the hazardous waste storage areas under the "interim status" portions of the federal Resource Conservation and Recovery Act (RCRA). |
| Site Cleanup Summary | Safety Kleen removed and properly closed the tanks and closed the hazardous waste tank storage area. The department accepted Safety Kleen's closure certification for the hazardous waste management areas in 1991. A Deed Notice, signed by the St. Louis County Recorder of Deeds, was placed on the property in order to inform potential future buyers of the property that the Safety Kleen site has been used to manage hazardous wastes. Safety Kleen is not subject to the permitting requirements of the Missouri Hazardous Waste Management Law or federal Hazardous and Solid Waste Amendments for post-closure care because they "clean closed" the interim status hazardous waste areas. Safety Kleen was subject to corrective action because they completed closure after the effective date of the federal Hazardous and Solid Waste Amendments. Investigations determined that the site did not pose any unacceptable risks to human health or the environment. On May 15, 1997, following required public notice and opportunity for comment, the department approved the proposed final remedy of no further corrective action with institutional controls and released Safety Kleen from regulation as a former interim status hazardous waste treatment, storage, and disposal facilities subject to the corrective action requirements of the Missouri Hazardous Waste Management Law and regulations. |
